

From the collection of William C. Yarger

A part round barrel, half magazine and pistol grip stock and fore end of deluxe grain walnut make number 39514 a collector's prize. The barrel length is 22 inches, one of the rare special lengths for rifles. The barrel sight seat was factory filled with a blank and a large-disc windgauge tang peep sight was installed.

Winchesters attractive style "E" carving and checkering grace the stock. Winchester designated the engraving as style number "9;" each side of the receiver has full coverage, with light coverage at the breech end of the barrel, on the upper tang, on the buttplate and fore end tip. The borders around the receiver are rather plain on this style of engraving. Scrolls engraved on the receiver are the large "American Style." The game scenes, artistically perfect, are the type displayed for this style number in catalogs. Other scenes or work could be ordered.
